kill, thou shalt bear false witness? Could he have said. Thou shalt hate thy God and hate thy neighbor? Of course not. He could not have made up such nonsense-laws, such wicked commandments, because he is not that kind of God, for one thing, and for another thing because if he did, it would have meant the destruction of the human race. Although right, and the will of God, are really the same thing, yet an act is not How Jesus Looked at It thusiasms.

How did Jesus our Lord stand on this question? What made a thing right, for him? He got into trouble with the lawyers of his time, and he got into trouble with what v would call D.D.'s and prominer preachers and professors of the ology (the Pharisees); they called him "bad" and had him executed

So there was evidently a difference between his way of looking at "right" and their way. It was precisely on this point that they split Jesus tried to make clear, though the Pharisees were too blind to see it, that the Sabbath law, any law of God or good rule of man, is right and good only in so far as it pro motes the welfare of man. This is ot setting up man above God, fo God is man's Creator. Right is what develops God's children; wrong is what stunts, deforms, defeats and estroys them. To put it in another way: The test f right and wrong is always this: Will this thing make people better and make better people? If so, it is right. All our laws, institutions and nterests must be brought to the test of their effect on human welfare. And of course, in Jesus' view the welfare of man includes social, spiritual and mental well-being and growth, not physical health and financial wealth alone.

Liquor and Welfare This being Temperance Sunday it is a good time to think about the iquor traffic in the light of all this. Think it out for yourself. Remen ber, alcohol is a habit-forming drug, and all talk about liquor cannot rase that very plain fact. Now think about the whole bus ness of making it, glamorizing it i advertising, selling it and using i Look around you in your hom rge, and ask: Does it bring mor benefit to people in your comm nity than it brings harm? Is th urpose of the business human Ask the welfare agencies in your ommunity-the Red Cross, the nospital, the agencies that look after the poor, the orphanage, and so on-ask these people: Does th iquor business make your wor asier? Is the liquor trade the all of the public school and the church Does it make better citizens, bette Christians? If it does, and only if does, then as a Christian can you
